Activities

Getting as many as 2000 students together for a mass meeting always presents a problem. By the middle of September, the problem had been tackled twice—the traditional Howdy Assembly and a not so-traditional Flag Raising Ceremony.

After the usual anxieties and tensions during the first weeks of school were over, sophomores and newcomers relaxed and learned about the lighter side of life at Monterey. For the seventeenth consecutive year, students saw impersonations of popular personalities, cheerleaders, athletes and coaches. Although the presentation was not a very informative orientation, it was humorous and after all, it was traditional.

After several more weeks of back to school confusion, another assembly took place in front of the school. What seemed to be an ordinary fire drill proved to be something new and quite different. Members of the band, choir and ROTC performed a patriotic flag raising ceremony—the first in Monterey's history. Although the ceremony received mixed reactions from both students and faculty, it was a show of patriotism and it was a not-so-traditional assembly.

Cowtown—that first big get-together—almost was not held this year. After postponing the event several times, the Student Council decided on September 16 as the final date. With only one week to prepare, the success of the dance was questionable. When Cowtown rolled around, it appeared to be the traditional hoedown. The jail, the hitchin' booth, the movin' picture show and the rest of the attractions stood in their usual place. "Flyte" played at the dance, but had to share time with a new addition to Cowtown, the Foggy Mountain Boogie Boys. As Cowtown '72 came to a close, everyone relaxed. Cowtown—the dance that almost did not happen—happened...and it was a profitable success

Have you got that Spirit?

"Yeah, man!" Most loyal Plainsmen fans had that illusive thing called spirit. Every Friday morning during football season, students stormed the auditorium to boost their favorite player on to victory. Although these spirit demonstrations were sometimes thought of as just another way to shorten that terrible class, pep rallies were no longer the usual drudge.

"Well, show it all over!" This came easiest of all for fans. Attendance increased along with participation. Pep squads such as Dud's Cruds and Super Seniors formed, adding catcalls and whistles, body victory signs and smoke bombs as highlights. Skits and a spirit thermometer also caused a lift in spirits. As the '72 football record soared higher, enthusiasm increased and Plainsmen really got that spirit.

Who Leads the Plainsmen?

Marsha Copenhaver

Good cheerleaders are hard to come by. Yet, Monterey always seems to choose the best, and this year was no exception. Junior and senior cheerleaders began working last summer in preparation for the '72 sports season. In September, two sophomores were added to the squad. They quickly became accustomed to the routine, helping with ribbon and spirit link sales and with collection of cans for Goodwill during "Can Coronado Week". Gridders boosted enthusiasm by winning regional championship, a first at Monterey. Working with this enthusiasm, MHS cheerleaders upped Plainsmen spirit to a record-breaking high.

Who's coming home?

Everything went without a hitch during Homecoming '72—the mums were lovely, the girls were radiant, even the game was a victory. A festive mood took over during the two-day extravaganza. Heading the list was a dynamic pep rally to boost the 'Men on to a victory over Plainview—Homecoming style. Ex students then attended a reception to visit with old friends and teachers.

Beginning Saturday's activities, gridders and their parents were introduced to spectators at Lowrey field. Halftime activities included the presentation of the queen candidates and the crowning of Marsha Copenhaver. Plainsmen then boosted gridders on to a 17-6 win over Plainview. The night ended with an all-school dance.

Although the crowd was not large, everybody had a good time, and it was agreed that Homecoming '72 was a success.

Christmas brings to mind good food, friends, and the feeling of holiday joy that goes with the season. Before school was dismissed for the holiday break, homerooms gave parties for elementary schools and provided needy families with food and gifts. These activities gave students a chance to spread the season's cheer and bring to themselves the warmth of the true Christmas spirit. After the bustle of Christmas was over, Fellowship of Christian Athletes kept spirits up by sponsoring another homeroom basketball tournament. Several mornings before school, homerooms battled each other for the championship, while sophomores played in their own division. During a homeroom period, teams that reached the finals played before students in championship games. The winning teams were presented with trophies.

What does spring bring?

With the coming of spring, most students came down with a common ailment known as "spring fever". Several assemblies were presented in an attempt to keep students interested in school life. The Traveling Salesmen provided musical entertainment during a pay assembly.

Later, Monterey Cantores followed up with another musical program, "In Search of Gold".

By sponsoring a film festival, NHS gave students a chance to escape boredom with only a small price to pay—a quarter.

If these happenings were not enough to keep students busy, there were other plans not quite so interesting. While juniors and sophomores filled out choice cards, seniors were measured for graduation caps and gowns.

To climax these activities, students carried

IBM cards to classes on a special bell schedule. Seeing that the epidemic of "spring fever" was rapidly raging, teachers arose to fight the problem. Although students tried hard, few escaped the cure.

Curriculum

MISC

Freedom of choice is perhaps the greatest privilege a person has. Students realized this when they were selecting courses for this year. The apathy of the 71-72 school year diminished and students took a sincere interest in the courses they chose.

Relations between students and teachers had greater rapport because of this increased interest. As years go by, students are given the right to choose more electives. Since high school is preparatory for the future, MHS offered a wide selection, agriculture, drama, music, homemaking, arts, speech, languages and more, from which students could choose courses most beneficial to them.

(TOP LEFT) No matter how busy the schedule was, Mr. Bill Bigham always found time to eat and enjoy the company of Mark Goldstucker. # → ELLANEOUS

After weeks and weeks of work, drama students unveiled their talents in the production Twelfth Night on December 6-8. Unfortunately for these actors, there were many school sponsored activities during the week of their production. Attendance was low, but the show went on. Students work every year toward bettering their skills, through study exercises and actual stage work. Movements to music were used for the first time this year, which help students rid themselves of any inhibitions. Children's plays put on in the fall provided enjoyment for elementary children and for the actors too. Whether it was the simplicity of the children's play, or the mastery of Shakespeare, drama students proved to be excellent performers.

HOME ECONOMICS

Learning to cook, sew and organize a home are the basics for every girl. Homemaking offered girls practical experience in all of these areas. This year cooking classes on all four levels progressed daily to more intriguing dishes. A study of foreign foods, canning and freezing, the finer points of pie crusts, and dabblings in gourmet dishes are just a smattering of units that were covered.

Sewing classes were often scenes of frustration, but when the final garment appeared, girls were able to shine with pride. Fourth year girls were confronted with an in-depth study of tailoring. A unit on housing is always included in homemaking courses and this year girls took various field trips to furniture stores and housing complexes. Each semester was concluded by a style show and tea presented by the combined cooking and sewing classes. Students in consumer's education got many hours of practical experience in budgeting and finance.

Learning from experience was the key phrase in home and family living and home nursing classes this year. Students were given the opportunity to view or experience life from conception to birth and on to marriage. Home nursing classes were shown many films on all stages of pregnancy and birth, many of which shocked and amazed the girls. An informative unit on child care brought in studies of defective and sick children.

In home and family living, students studied themselves, home management, preparation for marriage and marriage itself. Mock weddings highlighted the course. Students wholeheartedly participated, from the lucky penny in the bride's shoe to the toss of her bouquet. These two classes were extremely popular and were favorites with many students.

OFFSPRING

CRAYONS

Art began with a series of strokes with crayons and lots of vivid imaginations. As the year progressed, art students overviewed the techniques and philosophies of art, while they found they had advanced to lettering and drawing with ink. Paint splashed into the course and Monterey found that it had many unknown artists as the year's accomplishments were blended in an array of brilliant colors on canvas. The climax of the year, was the selection of a Plainsman Painter, to leave a masterpiece for future Plainsmen to view.

JOURNALISM

Journalism students under the supervision of Ms. Betty Stanley, discovered that even though journalism is a preparatory course for publications and though it requires hard work, it can also be fun. This year students learned the basics of communication through writing and also had the opportunity to learn to take pictures as well as develop and print them. By learning all the phases of working on a school newspaper or yearbook, journalism students were better prepared to enter a field in publications.

(TOP) Creativity is the key to success in journalism, Guy Conine and Mark Harrod prepare to test their keys. (BOTTOM RIGHT) Concentrating on her writing, Lee Ann Smith puts her thoughts on paper

Business courses such as typing, stenography, clerical practice and bookkeeping gave students who were interested in an office career a chance to learn the skills that were essential to success in the business world. These students were drilled in such areas as speed, accuracy and coordination. They were also presented with actual problems and situations which they might encounter on the job. The training received in these courses gave office education students a head start in finding secretarial positions which would be profitable to them in the future

BETTHOVEN

While notes, scales and compositions danced in their heads, music theory students busily worked trying to understand Bach, Beethoven and Brahms. Each student learned with accuracy and skill each note, scale and time measure which was essential to breaking down or building a piece of music. This course offered the fundamentals of music composition to students in other music related courses.

Students from band and orchestra especially found this course to be of great help and found they could use it to further their careers in music.

BRAHMS

Craftsmen—working on metal, wood, and a drawing board—learned to use the equipment available and the ideas manufactured in their minds to create skills that would prepare them for the future. Many students chose woodshop. In this class, each member became familiar with wood and its uses. Projects included everything from a ruler to a desk. Sparks flew in metal shop where the shrill sounds of welding bits and pieces of ornamental iron together produced bookstands for desks and cannons for displays. In drafting, future builders learned to read blueprints and draw machine parts and house plans for future use in the architectural field.

ESPAÑOL

In order to really understand a country, one needs to master its language—the tool of understanding. Three out of Monterey's four foreign language teachers first spoke the language they teach now, and all know the importance of learning a second language. Among courses available this year were Spanish, French, Latin and German. First and second year classes concentrated on the usage of the language, while more advanced students were concerned with an understanding of customs, history and philosophy of the people. A study of the country through literature, films, and preparation of native dishes was one of the most enjoyable units, whether students planned to use their knowledge later in life or simply enjoyed the study of a foreign culture.

For Monterey agriculture students, the farm was a second home this year. Students spent many hours each week slopping pigs, feeding chickens and caring for cows, but in the end they all knew that the hard work payed off. Girls were allowed to enter the Ag department this year, and each did her share of the work. When seniors graduated, all the money they had earned was awarded them in a lump sum which would come in handy. At the end of the year, "The Lonestar Farmer Award", was given to the ag student who earned $500. This award was coveted and it was an award that made the year worthwhile.

PROBLEMS

G ■ □ × ÷

Busy brains and broken pencils were very common throughout math classes at Monterey this year as students tackled courses which would benefit them in the future.

College-bound students seeking a Bachelor of Arts degree found that with two units of algebra, one unit of geometry and one half unit of trigonometry in high school, they would not have to take any math in college. Because of this option, Monterey had 165 students enrolled in trig classes—the largest enrollment among city high schools.

Physics, slide rule, calculus, speed math and trigonometry are a few of the advanced courses that were offered this year. The basics—geometry, algebra and related math were also available.

Interest was encouraged by visual aids and modern approaches to basic principles. Teachers' goal was to show students that all forms of math are relevant to society.

WRITING

The world of words, novels and people was studied in various ways by students at Monterey this year. Courses offered to help students improve individual skills were reading improvement and learning resources. Learning resources was offered for the first time this year with the intention of helping students with individual problems in learning. Ms. Judy Wiebusch put many hours into the program and received good results. Sophomore English went into a study of novels and used the novel A Separate Peace in conjunction with the movie. Research papers, hard as they may be, were required of juniors. Seniors, thinking that taking English as an elective would be a real breeze, were soon set straight. Shakespeare, Chaucer and other writers were not as easy for the "graduation-minded" seniors to understand as they thought.

YESTERDAY

Current affairs as well as ancient history concerned students in history classes at Monterey this year. A new idea was triggered when teachers decided to make their courses interesting to learn. Coach John Dudley's American History classes composed a newspaper about the events of the Civil War. Mr. Bill Bigham's students referred to the newspaper to inform them about the everyday happenings around the world. (They also enjoyed the daily dilemmas of characters like Charlie Brown, Dick Tracy and Blondie.) Government students learned parliamentary procedure while World Geography and World Affairs classes focused their interests around the globe.

TODAY AND # TOMORROW

Physical education this year was the pleasure of achievement or the pain of disgust to students. Many found the course interesting, fun and healthy while others found it to be stress, strain and failure. Athletically inclined students strived for high ratings on skill tests, relays and games while others declined to find any challenge in a course which consisted of exercises counted out in four four time. The program for girls was varied somewhat with a special weight watcher unit and the year-long dance class. The P.E. year ended as most classes in the gym end—with a dash to the dressing room amid an atmosphere of chaos

PHYSICAL

EDUCATION

Science classes proceeded from simple to complex at Monterey this year. Squeamish sophomores learned the eerie parts of fetal pigs, earthworms and squids while the semester project left them gasping. They found that they must catch 500 bugs and name them according to class, species and common name

Stepping up, juniors faced a world of test tubes, chemicals and formulas in chemistry. The mass confusion of their first lab proved to be almost too much.

Seniors somehow explored physics and asked such confounding questions as why and how a ball falls to the ground and figured the acceleration of objects.

K LSD

Working independently, electronics students have designed, created and implemented their own radio station. In operation for the second year, K LSD is the only high school radio station in the state of Texas. The building of a new studio at the start of the '72-73 school year aided students in making broadcasts of far better quality. All equipment and supplies were donated, scavenged or found—the taxpayers pay nothing. This educational station offers a varied program, all under the skilled guidance of Mr. Charles Wilson. The goal of electronics students was to get the undivided support of all students and to involve them in some way. K LSD is on the air daily from 7:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. at 91.1 fm.

...to generate the enthusiasm that really moved the spirit at Monterey. Sometimes this proved to be a tough job, as the "Swingin' Beat from 50th Street" performed at pep rallies, assemblies, and sports events. Chanting "get a 1!", MHS band has played on to win ten excellent ratings in 16 years of contest play. Under the watchful eye of C. Doyle Gammill, the band was a rolling snowball of spirit. Playing in the band required many hours of the students' time. Besides the actual playing of their instruments, band members volunteered their evenings to play in the basketball band, jazz ensemble, and other smaller groups within the larger band organization. Late hours of study were required of band members, as they missed classes while they performed at local luncheons and other civic functions. Yes, this year the band played on.

. year after year, with each band member doing his part. This year all members united to feed the world their annual spaghetti supper. With the $3500 profit they cleared, the band was able to make a side trip to Carlsbad Caverns after the Hobbs game. Band Booster Club sponsored the trip.

The female counterparts of the band, commonly known as the Band Girls Club, held several fund-raising projects throughout the year, such as selling sack lunches to the band boys. Being a member of Band Girls also proved to be fun, as the girls attended different activities, including a kidnap breakfast and a style show at Hemphill-Wells.

This year the band, with its numerous smaller organizations, contributed a great deal to the spirit of MHS. And the beat goes on, and on, and on . . .

Students found language clubs to be a mixture of seriousness and frivolity this year. French, Spanish, and Latin clubs traditionally started the year with various get-acquainted parties. As the year progressed, members worked on fund-raising projects, heard speakers, and attended conventions and symposiums. Participation in these clubs encouraged many students to learn a second language. For interested students, foreign language clubs provided the opportunity to better understand the culture and ways of life of each country's people.

Many students believe that the yearbook is slowly dying. The changing times have fostered this belief. The important values in school have changed, methods of teaching have changed, and so have yearbooks changed. Across the country yearbooks have been boxed, sacked, bound, distributed as magazines, and displayed as scrapbooks in order to please the reading public. The CHAPARRAL is no exception.

For the past two years innovations were introduced. Last spring the staff wisely decided to ask what students really wanted and expected in a yearbook. Surprisingly, an overwhelming majority preferred the traditional format. So, in an effort to produce an interesting, creative yearbook this year, the staff of the 1972-73 CHAPARRAL has added special effects pictures, applied color, and graphic techniques to the traditional yearbook.

Hard work and a lot of time was the formula for putting out a prize-winning newsmagazine. In December, the Monterey MIRROR won first in state at the Texas High School Press Association convention in Denton. Individual awards went to Richard Denny, specialized column; Gayle Chaffin and Grady Robertson, photography; Teresa Kallina and Christy Robertson, ads; and Chuck Pugh, feature article.

Keeping up with the news was a full-time job, because there was always something going on. The MIRROR, edited by Lisa Paikowski, covered club events, news items, and sports events. Feature stories focused on local figures and happenings, and there was even a record review. A bit of excitement broke the usual routine. The November issue was hijacked to Miami, delaying distribution and dubbing the magazine the "Miami MIRROR".

Students join Honorary Clubs

Any member of an honorary club is held in high esteem. Members of Thespians, National Forensic League, and National Honor Society were no exception. These clubs maintain very high standards. In each case, a minimum number of points had to be earned in order to qualify for membership.

After initiation, these clubs activated many worth-while projects. Thespians participated in a spirit-boosting balloon sale during a football game; NFL members produced a Reader's Theater; and NHS aided the Goodfellows in distributing Christmas toys. Membership in honorary clubs proved to be a valuable experience for interested students.

Students, parents devote time, money to MHS

Although there were many activities to participate in, students as well as parents gave time to chemistry club, booster club, and chess club. Interested chemistry students attended lectures by Ms. Jeanelle Culp and performed seemingly strange experiments. Parents supporting athletics, known as the booster club, congregated Monday nights. One of their major projects was financing a victory bell for the Plainsmen. As the popularity of chess increased, so did the popularity of the chess club. Before school, one could always find chess fans pondering their next moves in Mr. Ricky's room. Each game seemed as important as the Fischer-Spassky match.

Choirs don new look

"Onward and upward" seemed to be the motto of the choirs as innovations were introduced in the department. Choir members acquired new uniforms of plaid and velvet, replacing the traditional gowns. The color of the choir room was brightened by varied shades of orange and new carpet. Even the names of two of the choral groups were changed to "Vivarachas" and "Venturas". Each choir elected their own officers.

All choirs presented a winter concert, with a sneak preview by the Cantores. In January all-state choir competition was held in Odessa, with Mary Marable, Alan Campbell, Robert Pollard and Dale Garrett winning places in the all state Choir. In the spring, the choir department put on their spring spectacular of popular hits from the past two years.

Although the orchestra received little publicity, its members were very active during the year. On the social calendar were parties, a fall hayride, rummage sale, and bake sale. Orchestra's November assembly was termed a success. Four students, Randy Cloyd, Candy Craver, Rita Hill, and Marilyn Hurley, placed in all-state competition. The young musicians played more pop music than in years past, breaking the usual classical music routine. Spring was full of practice and preparation for Interscholastic League contest held in May.

Earning, learning is a way of life

Looking for a way to learn and earn money at the same time, many students took vocational courses, enabling them to attend school in the morning and get on-the-job training in the afternoon. Employers evaluated their trainees from time to time, so teachers and students alike could assess their progress. Approximately 180 students were employed part-time through vocational courses.

Those interested in office careers took preparatory Office Education and Cooperative Office Education. Offered for the first time this year, juniors taking POE learned to operate various office machines in a two-hour lab. POE served as the preparatory course for COE. Seniors involved in COE worked as secretaries and receptionists.

In CHE, the cooperative health organization, students worked as hospital, dental, or lab therapy assistants. CHE taught students how to care for patients in various situations and fill the demand for help in the medical profession.

Because Distributive Education was the largest of all the vocational organizations, two programs were offered. Both programs trained students in wholesale, retail, and service selling. Many businesses found it worthwhile to employ DE trainees.

Home Economics Cooperative Education, or HECE, was an old program with a new name. This organization involved those students willing to make a career in some phase of homemaking. Part-time jobs for HECE trainees included floral design, interior decorating, and fabric coordinating.

FHA, FFA help mold the future

For those who were interested in a farming or homemaking career FFA and FHA were building blocks for the future. Students interested in ranching joined Future Farmers of America. Members sold sausage and broilers, as well as dairy products and fruits. FFA provided the essential training and background that students needed to fulfill their career planning in agriculture.

Initiation into FHA led young homemakers to a place where they could learn and achieve skills to help them become better homemakers. Banquets, bake sales, and style shows gave the girls opportunities to raise money and show their achievements in various areas of homemaking.

Boys develop varied technical skills

In order to develop technical skills, many boys joined the Industrial Arts Club and the Vocational Industrial Club of America. These clubs helped to widen and deepen their interests and knowledge of the technological age. In VICA, electronics students fixed radios, tape decks and TV's, charging only for parts. The chairs from Embers Steakhouse found a resting place in the Industrial Arts workroom while being repaired. These small fund-raising projects helped to fill club treasuries.

The Industrial Arts Club chose to build a catamaran sailboat for their year's project, which they planned to enter in next year's state fair. Members of VICA built projects such as stereos, clocks, radios and amplifiers that were entered in the spring contest.

Odom's 'Men shine in pre-district play

After a mediocre '71 showing, MHS gridders were determined to better the record. They made a grand debut, tripping Big Spring 20-14 and starting what proved to be a winning season.

Sophomore kicker Mike Anderson proved his worth early in the season, booting field goals and extra points to save the game more than just a few times. Though scores were sometimes enough to take your breath away, the 'Men pulled through and started district play with a perfect 5-0 record.

Victory over CHS brings home district title

Counting on a perfect non-district record to pull them through, Plainsmen ripped into district play. Due to a solid defense the 'Men outmuscled the pre-season favored Hereford Whitefaces in a 7-0 shutout.

The following week the Silver Spurs made their home at MHS for another year as the Plainsmen offense piled up 27 points to spur Lubbock High 27-0. District newcomer Snyder came to town to receive a not very warm welcome because of a 28-0 paddling.

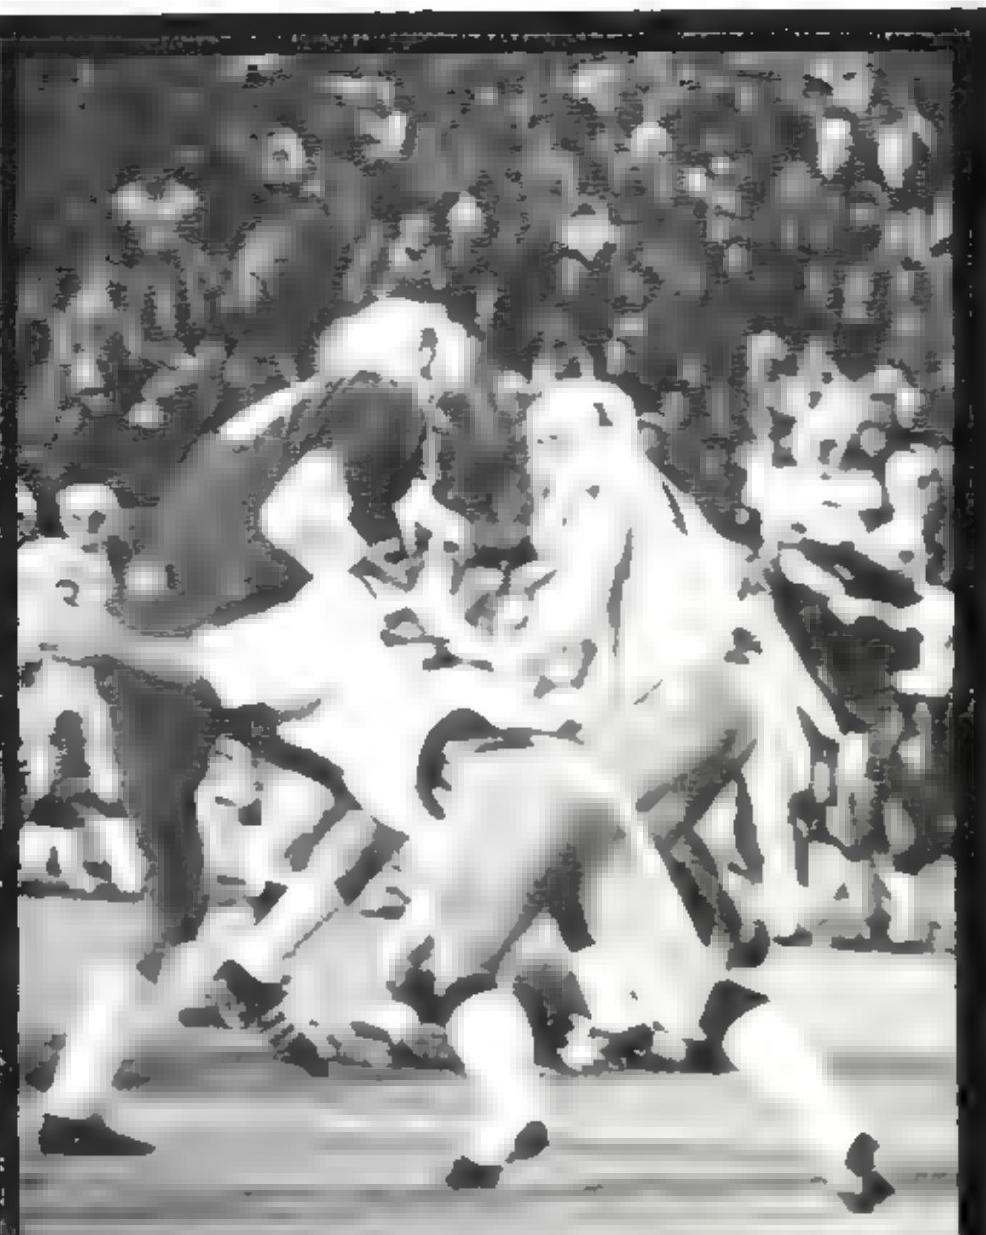

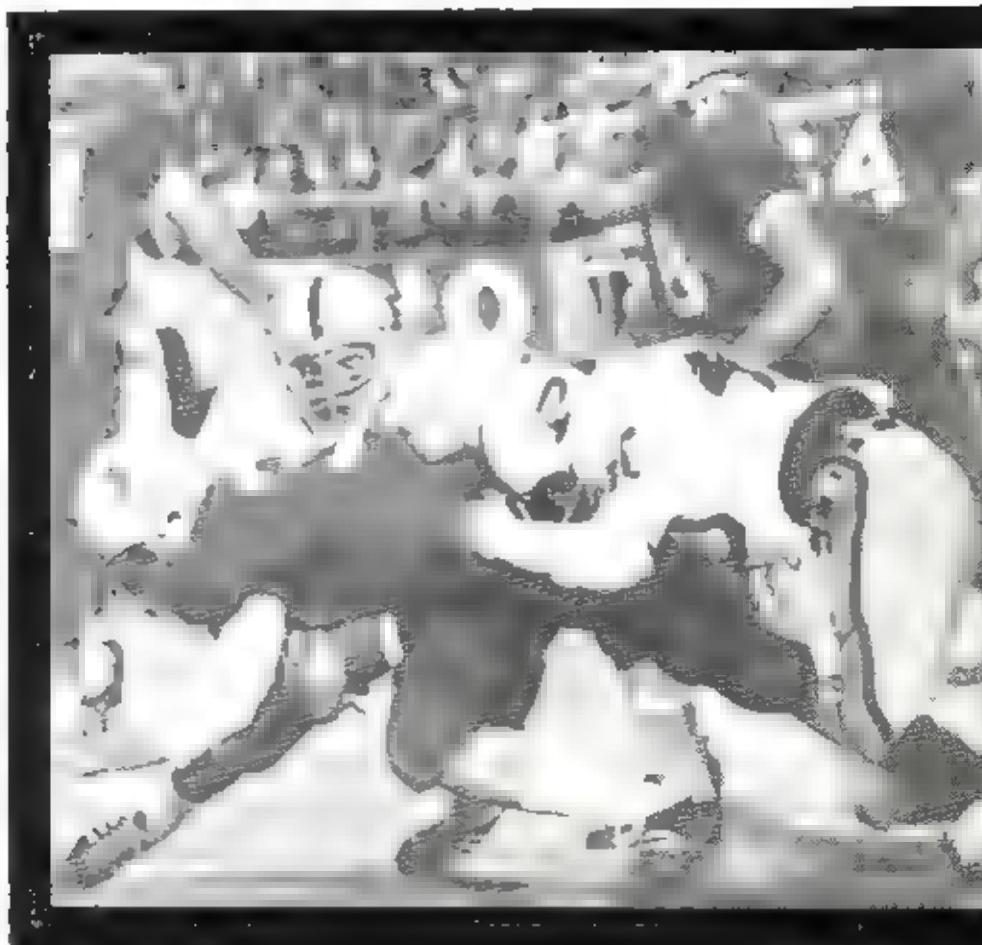

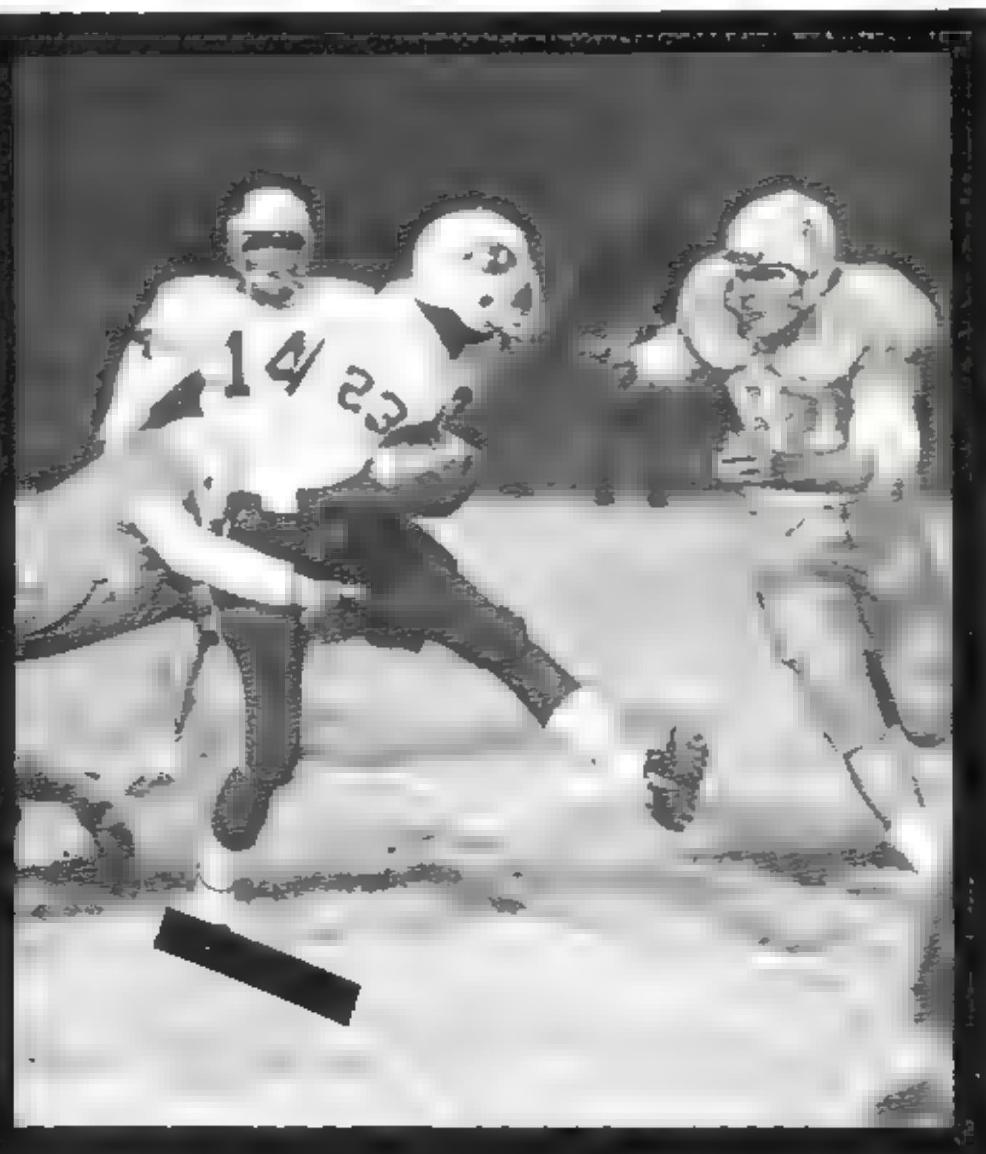

The Plainview Bulldogs were next in line with more bark than bite as they were defeated 17-6. With the district crown unquestionably theirs, the Plainsmen smashed crosstown rival Coronado 24-6.

MHS wins Regional crown

With an undisputed district title, MHS gritted its teeth for the state playoffs. They met Amarillo Palo Duro at Lowrey field to vie for bi-district and came out on top, 21-0. Next, 'Men traveled to El Paso to meet Eastwood on the Sun Bowl gridiron. Plainsmen proved to be "number one under the sun" as they stomped the Troopers 34-21 to bring home the regional crown. Odessa Permian crept up and after a futile attempt by MHS, they walked away with the quarter-final trophy. In addition to Regional championship, 25 individual awards were given to Plainsmen. Placing on the All-City team were Mike Hagan, Zane Cox, Larry Horn, Mark Scott, Ricky Wheeler, Dan Irons, Steve Maxwell, Glen Yarbrough, Bobby Pipkin and Mike Anderson. Anderson also took the city Sophomore-of-the-Year award. All-district players included Hagan, Horn, Scott, Wheeler, Irons, Maxwell, Pipkin, Yarbrough and Randy Golden. Yarbrough was 4-4A Co-Player of the Year. Irons, Maxwell, Yarbrough and Scott were assigned to the All-South Plains squad. A very deserving Dan Irons received the honor of secondary end on the All-State roster.

Promising sophomores post winning season

Persistent roundballers gain regional playoffs

At times it was a struggle, but the 'Men made it. They crowded out the persistent Snyder Tigers for the district crown and, for the first time in three years, advanced to the playoffs.

Labeled a second half ball club, the Plainsmen played some squeakers, and lost the first half of district play to the Tigers. The second half was all Monterey and they went into the district playoff with a 22-9 record and made it 23-9 with a 36-34 victory over Snyder.

The bidistrict contest against the Tascosa Rebels proved to be another close one. The 'Men connected on nine of 11 charity tosses in the fourth quarter to take a 40-39 win over the Amarillo team. Michalka and the Plainsmen, with a fat 24-9 record for the year, advanced to the Regional I tournament in Abilene to play Irving

'Men's pre-district success points to district crown

Plainsmen opened the '72-'73 season by romping over Odessa Permian 75-57. The Midland Tournament followed, and the 'Men took the second place trophy after a 47-36 loss to Midland High in the Championship tilt.

Dunbar came crosstown and left, losers to Monterey 65-50. Monterey didn't place in the San Angelo tournament, but the next week the 'Men slid by Amarillo Tascosa 45-43. Monterey hit the road and encountered a series of close games. The 'Men squeezed past Abilene Cooper 67-64, followed by a 51-45 loss to Midland High. The cagers had a heartbreakin loss to the Abilene High Eagles.

MHS cagers take sixth Caprock tournament

An abrupt turnabout after the previous two losses came when the Plainsmen whipped Odessa Permian 68-51. The Caprock tournament was next on the agenda and MHS held tradition to once again take the Caprock tournament. The win made the sixth Caprock tournament won by Monterey roundballers. '73 did not begin in the desired fashion as the 'men lost to Pampa 58-51. Plainsmen didn't let cold shooting get them down for long as they came back to stomp Amarillo Palo Duro 62-54.

Luck didn't stay with the Plainsmen as they fell to Borger 62-53 and Pampa 48-46 in the final two games of non-district play.

Three-year drouth ends—'Men named

In the opening game of District 4-4A, Dan Irons scored after a rebound midway through a three minute overtime period to give the Plainsmen a 51-49 victory over the pre-season favorite Hereford Whitefaces.

In this game, Irons led Monterey with 12 points, Joe Davidson and Blake Christie each added 10 points. Irons pulled down 11 rebounds and Alvin Wade got 10. Wade also was credited with three steals.

In the second district game of the season, the Coronado Mustangs led going into the final eight minutes of the game, but the 'Men surged into the lead behind Irons and Steve Myatt, and the Mustangs faltered to give MHS a 39-31 victory. Irons paced the Plainsmen with 12 points, hitting five of seven from the field, and 15 rebounds. Myatt was the top scorer with 14.

In a run-and-gun, extremely physical contest with the Lubbock Westerners, the 'Men walked away with a 69-47 victory. The game started roughly and Eric Felton was ejected in the first quarter. Monterey also lost one of its top players when Wade was slammed into the wall by LHS's David Lusk. Myatt paved the way for the 'Men with 15 points and Christie and Irons followed with 12 each. Irons also hauled in 11 rebounds. The first game with Plainview belonged to the Bulldogs on the floor, but Monterey moved ahead 52-48 since the luckless 'Dogs did not have a single foul try in the game. Christie hit 12 points for the 'Men; Myatt hit 11 and Irons and Davidson had 10 each. Irons hauled down a game-high 7 rebounds.

The day of reckoning finally arrived for Michalka's 'Men when they met the Snyder Tigers for the first time. Fred Liner only made two points in the entire game, but they were a big two points. The Snyder playmaker sank the two free shots with only three seconds left in the game to give the Tigers a 52-51 victory over MHS and the first-half crown of District 4-4A.

4-AAAA Champs!

The 'Men met Hereford in the first game of the second half which featured loose officiating and loose playing most of the way before Monterey put on a surge in the game's last three minutes. The Plainsmen salted away a 44-40 decision. Myatt led all scorers with 13 points and Irons chipped in 12 to the Monterey attack and grabbed 11 rebounds. In the second game with crosstown rival Coronado, the 'Men were ahead briefly for as much as 19 points when the Mustangs finally rallied in the fourth quarter. However, the last ditch effort by the Ponies failed to make a difference and MHS pocketed another victory 53-50.

The next week an 80-57 win against the Lubbock High Westerners gave the 'Men a 3-0 second half District 4-4A record and left the Westerners winless after three outings. Irons and Myatt finished the night with 16 points each. Davidson responded with 12 and reserves Troy Goyne and Mike Hagood accounted for 15 and 10 points each. Monterey set the stage for another showdown with Snyder with a convincing 62-51 decision over Plainview. The 'Dogs offered the 'Men little resistance as Myatt hit a hot streak in the second half and, coupled with a successful full court press by the 'Men, romped to a 20 point lead. Myatt ended the night as the game's leading scorer with 21 points.

Irons and that patented Monterey High School stall worked against the Snyder Tigers and the 'Men got sweet revenge for an earlier defeat. The 45-37 victory gave the Plainsmen the second round title with a 5-0 mark. Irons was definitely the big factor in the contest, especially in the last eight minutes of the game. The 6-6 senior hit on all five of field shots in the final stanza and dominated the defensive boards with ease. On the following Friday the 'Men did it again and won the play-off game 36-34. Blake Christie put in four clutch points in the final two minutes of the game, came up with a pair of steals and broke a Snyder press to capture the District 4-4A title.

Knight's Lancers win 22 out of 28 games

Size and ability were important factors in carrying MHS Lancers to a 22-6 basketball record in '72-'73. An abundance of talent spread through the 8-man team kept any one Lancer from becoming a star, although scoring action seemed to center around Mike Anderson and Jack Pace.

Aided by the competent coaching efforts of Carl Knight, Lancers emerged from district competition flaunting a 9-1 ledger. Plainview gave the Lancers a rough time, handing them two rousing defeats in tournament play and one in district, but MHS-JV was finally able to shake off the jinx and defeated the "pups" 52-45.

It's been a good season for Monterey basketballers and the Sophomore team record promises two more good years.

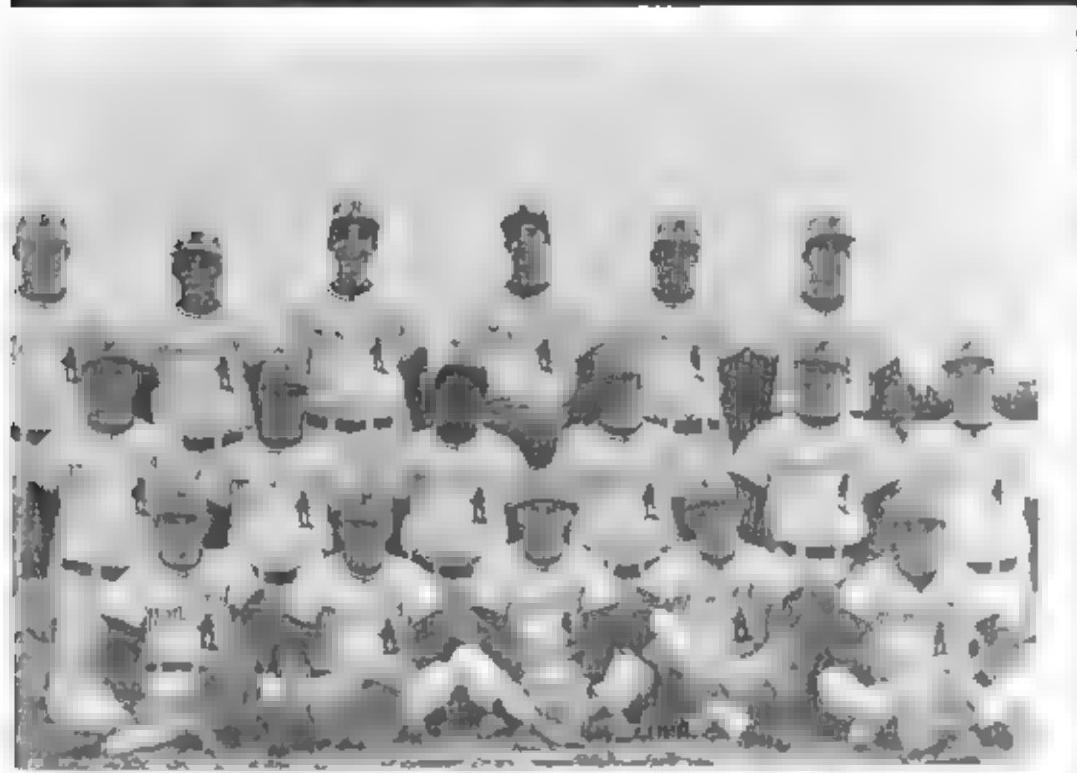

The full team effort helped the tenth graders post a 14-3 season record, one of the best ever held by a Monterey Sophomore team.

John Rhea's scoring efforts and Dennis Blair's defensive work gave the Sophs a 9-1 district ledger. Disproving the old home-court advantage theory, the team lost one game on the road and two in the MHS gym.

'Men defend state championship

The fifth time around proved to be a charm as Monterey finally put it all together in the summer of '72 and took the highest title possible for any Texas high school baseball team. The Plainsmen have won 12 titles since Coach Bobby Moegle won the National High School Baseball Coach of the Year Award.

Ten lettermen are back, including six starting returners and three moundsmen. Moegle also has six sophomores on the Varsity, two of which are battling for starting berths. This year's starters include: Catcher, Jimmy Shankle; Pitcher, Glenn Yarbrough and Steve Harr; First Baseman, Gary Ashby, Second baseman, Brad Harrelson;

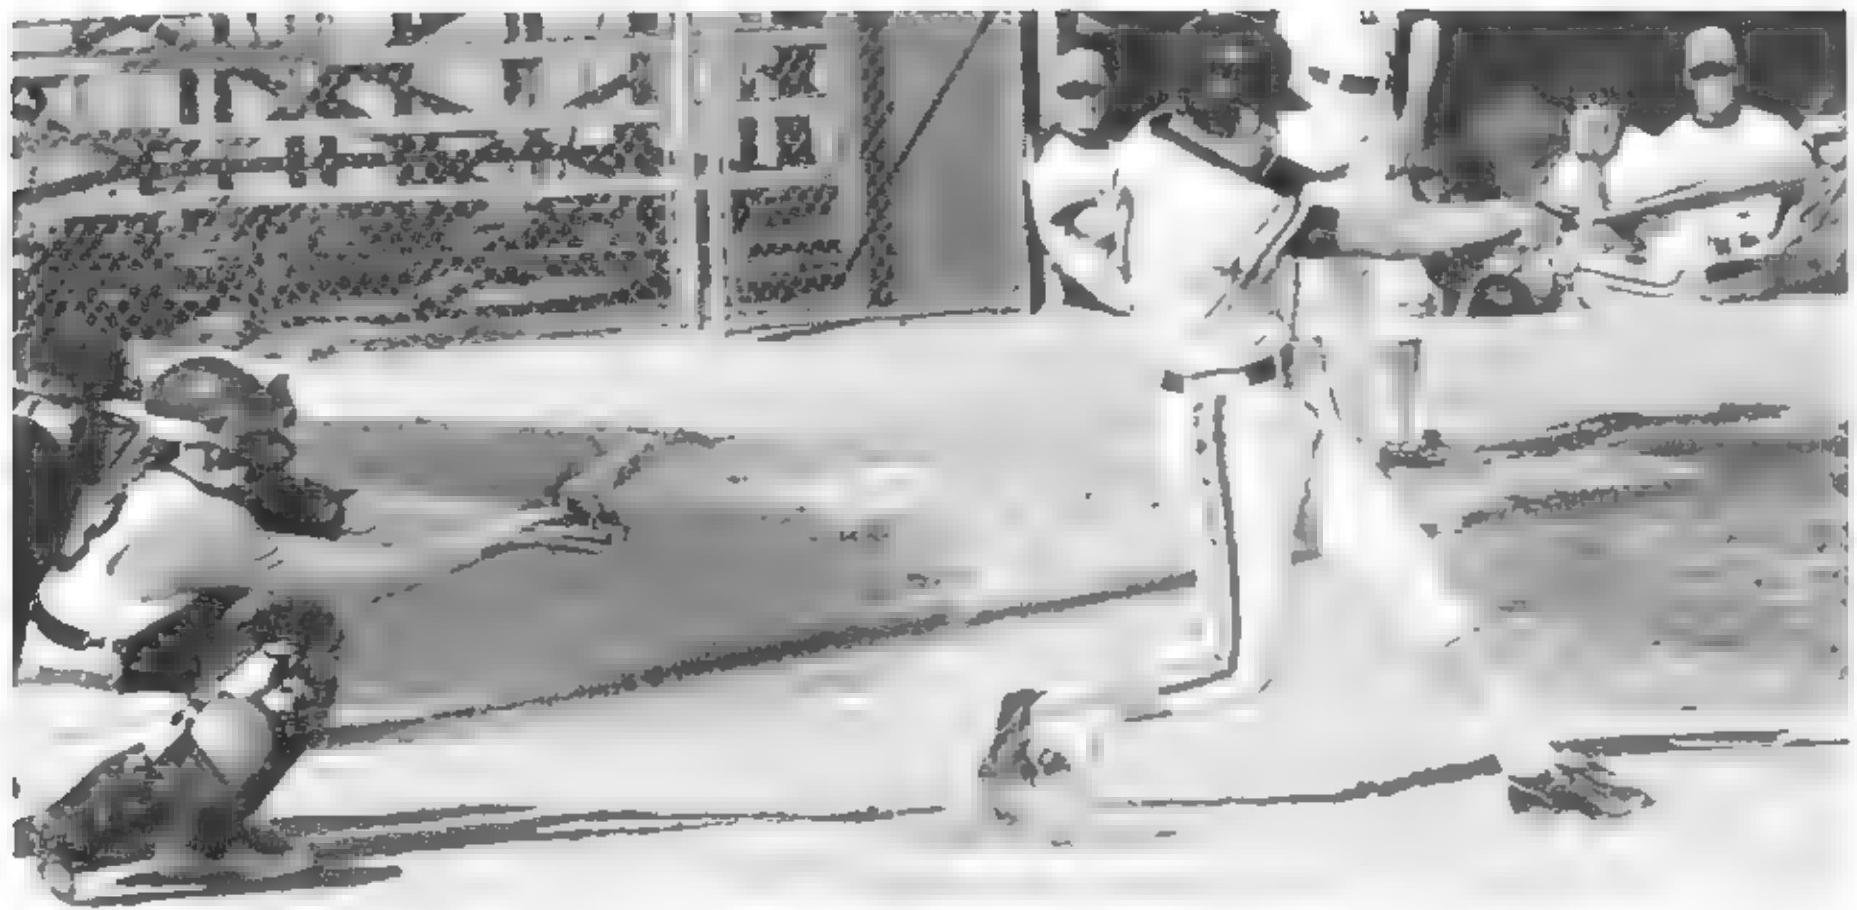

Shortstop, Tommy McIntyre, Third baseman, Dwayne Clanton, Right field, Bobby Evans, Left field, Larry Horn; Center field, Marlin Hamilton. Jimmy Shankle checked in with the best batting average, and Glenn Yarbrough started with a 5-0 past season record.

With a 5-0 dual match record at semester, Coach Bob McKenna's tennis team was well on its way toward pulling in its third consecutive winning season.

In 71-72 district finals, six out of eight places were filled by MHS netters. The team then went on to tie for first in regionals. In boys' doubles, Terry McInturff and Jon Moore advanced to the semi-finals of the state playoffs. Returning district champs included Mary Jo Sparks, Anne Waters, and Robin Amandes, "A" division; and Jack Robinson, Keith Dendy and John Clements, "B" division. Coach McKenna expected these stars to carry his boys' and girls' doubles teams to the state playoffs in May.

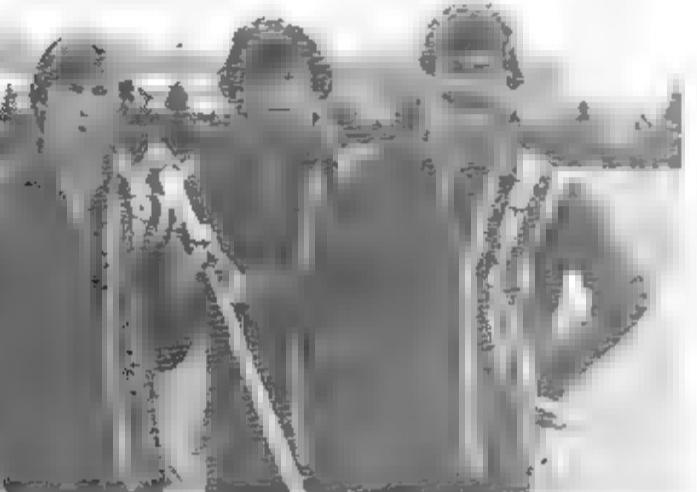

Major tournament wins included first place in the Lubbock Fall Invitational, second at El Paso, and third in the West Texas State University Team Tournament.

Thinclads aim high to equal '72 record

With a regional championship tucked under their belts and several state contenders, '72 tracksters left a hard path for Coach Pat Blessing's new squad to follow. Senior Mark Lawless set a new school record in the mile run in '72. Phil Sims, who also ran hurdles, and Craig Leach made up the senior half of the mile relay, which traveled to the state meet.

Dual performers, many of them returning stars, brightened Coach Blessing's hopes for a top-ranked team this year. Returning state contenders from '72 included Lane McNamara, broad jump and mile relay, Ricky Wheeler, mile relay, and Robert Leach and Bruce Williams, pole vault.

"Football and cold weather hinders our progress," stated Coach Blessing at the beginning of the track season. Yet, he seemed confident of another district crown, and possibly even higher accomplishments.

Monterey duffers began practice on the Meadowbrook golf course under the direction of Coach Charles Brewer. Five lettermen returned to the team, followed by four juniors and the team acquired four sophomores to bring the total team count to thirteen. District play began on March 9 and ended April 6. District tournaments were held in Hereford, Plainview, Snyder and Lubbock. The Regional Tournament was held in Lubbock and to climax the season, state finals were held in Austin.

Who says girls are not athletic?

Girls can now compete in sports without feeling unladylike, and share the excitement of winning that boys experience in competitive athletics. Over the past three years, girls' intramurals have developed so that those with different interests can participate in such sports as volleyball, gymnastics, badminton, table tennis, bowling and basketball. As Ms. Sammie Crutcher, intramurals director at MHS, stated, "As long as we have enough girls to make two teams, we'll play the sport."

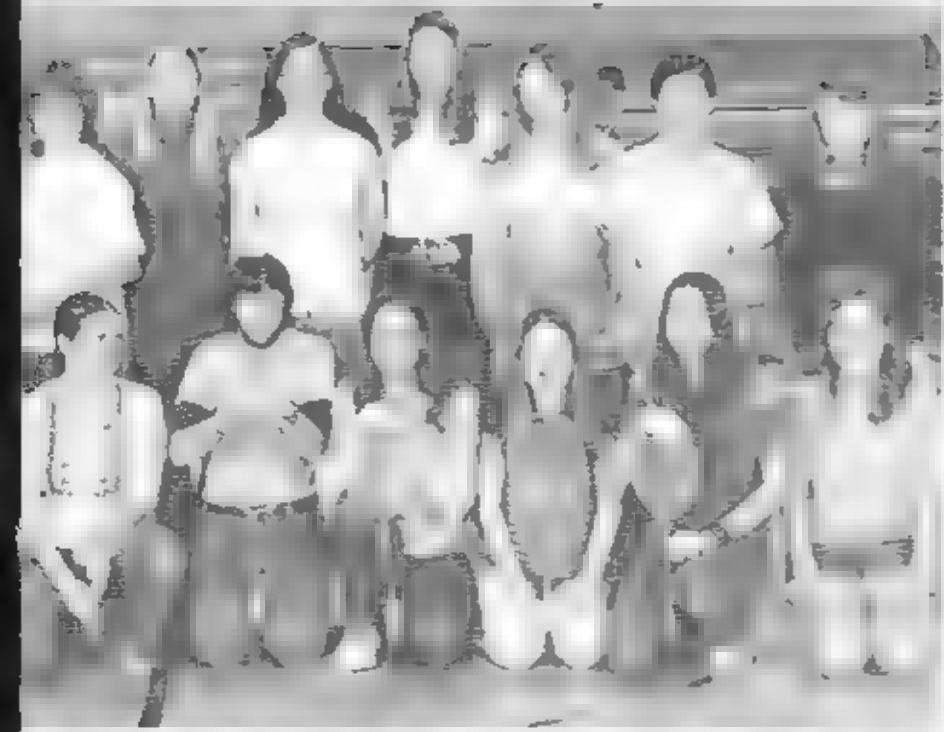

After intramural volleyball and basketball tournaments were played, allstars were chosen to advance to inter-city playoffs. GIB and C.C. Volleyball kept the school informed, as girls involved in this program got a taste of the Plainsman winning spirit that seemed to take over at Monterey this year.

Tankers gain competitive experience

Twelve enthusiastic tankers of the Lubbock Swim Club banded together this year to form Monterey's first UIL swim team.

Members swam an average of two miles daily to prepare for meets in Lubbock, Odessa, Midland and Fort Stockton, and for the regional meet held in Odessa, March 2-3. The two best qualifying times in each of 12 events at regional went on to the state meet in Austin.

ON THE SPOT

What is your opinion on busing of students to achieve racial balance?

THEIR POINT OF VIEW

"I believe that education can best be achieved through the neighborhood school concept. Integration is helpful in education; however, busing to achieve racial balance should not be required as it is unnecessary for equal education."

Mr. Bill D. Tucker
President
Lubbock School Board

TRENDS

What do you consider the most promising trends in education today?

"Something that we're not quite into yet will be computerized, individualized instruction, especially in math and science. We're looking ahead toward math and science study centers—particularly in secondary schools. The study centers will give interested students the opportunity for advanced, in-depth study."

Career education is another promising area. Students will be able to take courses outside the basic curriculum and will be on their own more. I think the future of education is going to be very exciting, because students will be more involved in the curriculum. They'll help decide a lot more of the content of the courses they take."

ENRAGED

Do you think students are less patriotic than they were ten years ago?

CALIFORNIA

It seems to me that students are no more or less patriotic than they were ten years ago, but that disloyal acts are publicized to a greater extreme. Three to four years ago burning of the flag and draft cards were frequently heard of, but not so much now. Ever once in a while at Monterey there will be a student who does not want to stand for the pledge of allegiance, but generally I would say that students are no less patriotic.

The relaxing of the dress code has multitudinous effects—some positive other negative. I definitely think the relaxing of the hair code has been a positive influence in diminishing 'bad vibrations' between teachers and students. Moderate length hair styles will be with us for awhile. The negative part of the relaxed dress code occurs, in my opinion in the instances of personal lack of taste in some individuals. As you probably know I'm not a Women's Libber and cannot go along with some of the current 'Ins' in dress for women. Perhaps this could be labeled the generation gap—since I am one hundred and ten.

CORIOTU

Have methods of teaching changed since you've begun to teach?

TEACHING

Basically, teaching methods have not really changed a great deal.

There are some surface differences, such as the availability of many kinds of visual aids, library materials, and classroom equipment. Schools now have better facilities for taking care of individual needs and many courses are more specialized than they used to be.

Actually, though, teachers are still trying to use every means they can to help their pupils, and this is what they have always been trying to do.

Realizing that approval cards mean promotion, Sophomores plan their Junior schedule

Preparing for the upcoming year Beth Froust and Cliff Attaway discuss approval cards.

"What's in it for ME?" We were all asking ourselves the same question as dreams became reality for some and began to take shape for others. Seniors realized how real graduation and their plans beyond that had suddenly become. Juniors started practicing to fill Seniors' shoes and be "Big Men on Campus," while Sophs opened their eyes to a totally different concept of life. Some found their answers, while some will always be asking "What's in it for ME?"
